

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
THE DAILY JOURNAL is mailed to subscribers at EIGHT DOLLARS per annum; FIVE DOLLARS for six months; SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS per month for a shorter period.

The Weekly Journal at two dollars per annum, one dollar for six months. No subscription is received to the Weekly for less than six months.

MEMOIRS OF THE MEXICAN VETERANS

We were shown yesterday one of the badges that have been struck off for the Mexican Veterans. The badge consists of two parts connected by a band of tri-colored silk. The parts are of brass that once formed a Mexican canon which was captured in battle. The upper part of this badge is a parallelogram shaped and has its sides upon it. Patented March 7th, 1876. Nation Association of Veterans. The lower part is in the shape of a shield, around the margin of which is inscribed the name of several of the battles of the Mexican war: Tolosa, Vera Cruz, Pao Alto, Buena Vista, Cerro Gordo, Churubusco, Chapultepec and San Pasqual. In the left hand upper corner is a ship under full sail. In the right hand upper corner is a field piece of artillery. Between these are two muzzles and a cable crossed, in the upper angle of which is seen a bursting bomb, in the lower angle of which is a horseman's pistol. At the bottom of the shield is a scroll, on the upper fold of which is the name of "Socorro" on the ends of which respectively are the names of Perry and Taylor. From the upper fold of the scroll rise two floral spires, first diverging from and then approaching each other. Between these spires are, first, the word Mexico, then a group of tropical plants, then a representation of a tiered fortress, and beneath the fortress, the date 1848. Around the middle of the outer ring, extending from the reverse to the cushion is a string of stars.

On the reverse is inscribed the name "Reuben Jones."

The Death of Col. James G. Green.

It becomes a sad duty to chronicle this morning the death of one more of the men who have given to the society of Wilmington its elevation and charm. This estimable, high-toned gentleman, of a type which is fast passing away, died at his residence in this city on yesterday morning, after a lingering illness of long duration. His remains will be interred this morning, the funeral to take place at 11 o'clock from St. James' church, and thence to Oakdale Cemetery.

The history of the family to which he belonged is intimately connected with the history of Wilmington for more than three-quarters of a century. In the days when the society of Wilmington was renowned for its wealth and culture, when all classes and castes made life in the Cape Fear region as desirable as anywhere on the American continent, the family occupied its own distinct section which gave it to the whole its name abroad. Col. Green was the worthy son of a good stock carrying in his breast the spirit of chivalry, and in his deportment the polished ease of those who were the high characters of their time and social status. Courteous and polite to all, he was the soul of personal honor, and inheriting an open-handed generosity, the mystic power of his presence drew around him a host of friends, who became kindred spirits in his circle. His written account of such a character is lame and unattractive in comparison with the honest and sweet impressions left on the minds of them who knew him. Pictures of natural scenery, or interest of travel, and especially to those who are familiar with the original and a man's own family most readily discover blemishes in a likeness of himself. No power of art can impress to an image the beauty, or vivacity, or interest of the subject, and a faithful representation of the character of the dearest which shall awaken pleasing recollections, must fail to the duty of a hand more capable of the task than ours.

Death of Rev. A. Pantry Repton, D. D.

A telegraphic dispatch from Capt. R. W. Lamb to Col. McMilleney conveys the sad intelligence of the sudden death in the city of Norfolk, of the Rev. Dr. Repton, on yesterday evening. The remains are expected to arrive in the city by the Weldon train on Monday evening, and will be taken charge of by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, who will inter them with the honors of that fraternity of which he was at one time the highest officer in North Carolina.

Dr. Repton has made the city of Norfolk his home for the past five or six years, but Wilmington was his residence for the greater part of his manhood life, having removed from the State of Virginia to this city in the year 1839. He was educated at William and Mary College, and by that institution the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him.

In 1842 he became a member of the Episcopal church and in its service he spent all his life, bringing to the discharge of his ministerial labors a vigorous intellect and ripe scholarship.

Baron De Graffenreid.

The postmaster at Newbern has received the following letter, so says the Times, which may lead to the recovery of valuable historical papers, if the intimation be followed up. The history of Newbern at the period referred to in the letter was almost identical with the history of the State. The late Governor Swain or the late Dr. Hanks would have treasured such a document beyond measure.

Eric, Pa.

To the Postmaster, March 29, 1876.

To the Postmaster, Newbern, N. C.:

I desire to communicate to you a fact which came to my knowledge through some of your newspaper editors. Mr. De Guigny, Mayor of the city of Yverdon, Canton Vaud Switzerland, writes me under date of March 9th, 1876, that he found in the city library a well-bound volume of masonic records from the years 1710 to 1725 by Baron De Graffenreid, former Judge of Yverdon, who founded your city in 1710. I think that the American consul at Geneva ought to have the manuscript copied for you.

Very truly yours,

E. W. Guzman,
Health Officer, Eric, Pa.

Col. John Hedrick.

The most friendly of Col. Hedrick will be greatly pleased to learn that he has again resumed business in his own name. He is confessedly one of the best dry goods merchants to be found anywhere, and has always enjoyed the confidence of the people of the Cape Fear region. The greatest business success to him, is our earnest wish.

VOL. 32.

WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, APRIL 7, 1876.

NO. 14

Wilmington Journal

ADVERTISING RATES.

One Square one week..... $1.00
One Square two weeks..... $1.50
One Square three months..... $1.00
One Square six months..... $1.00
Additional Squares at proportional rates.
One Column equal to TWO solid lines advertised types, 12 columns in advance.

LOOK FOR THE X MARK.
Subscribers finding this mark on their copy of the Journal will understand that their subscription is due and will be asked to pay it. If they do not do so, the paper will be withheld at their subscription office. Any subscriber who has already remitted his dues, and has not done so immediately, will be compelled to discontinue the paper.

STATE NEWS.

From the Asheville Expositor:

The committee to whom Gen. Vance referred the matter have recommended John Wakefield of Caldwell, for the position of Adjutant General. Col. Conner is recommended as alternate. No doubt Gen. Vance will regard the suggestion of the committee and make the appointment. The committee were Col. Folk, Dr. J. Mason, Spainhour and Horton Bowlers, Esq.

From the Charlotte Observer:

The State Convention adjourned Saturday evening, in Montgomery county, drank a toast of whisky at a draught and died it.

There was quite a large meeting of railroad men at the Central Hotel, on yesterday. The following roads were represented: the Western, the Southern, the Atlantic & Richmond Air Line, Col. T. M. R. Talcott and Sol. Hass of the Bienville & Davierville, Col. Pope, the Atlantic Coast Line, Col. F. P. French, the Western, the Carolinas Central, and J. J. Gurney of the Atlantic Tennessee & Ohio. It was a meeting of consultation, to interchange views on the subject of fares, but beyond this nothing was done.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—Various petitions were presented against a change in the tariff.

The Mississippi investigation reported that Belknap asked him if he could pay $2,000 a year for a post office for which Bell made personal application. Key reported the resolution.

Known to the Senate Committee.

Proposed articles of impeachment against Belknap. There are five articles.

The specifications are all unknown. They are confined exclusively to the South.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—The preliminary business was unimportant.

The second regular session was resumed, and Bayard spoke in opposition.

He urged that "we abstain from the policy of interference which has been so damaging, and let us peace in all the States."

During Bradley's speech, Mr. Bentall was heard to say that the Senator from Georgia had been a fool, and he also admitted to his defeatism.

Key asserted that the terminates by Gov. Holden, "for twenty odd years, the leading secessionist of North Carolina." To the speech of Mr. Yeates, we desire to call attention, as we did to the recent speech of Mr. Yeates of North Carolina, to the House, the other day, spike with some bitterness of the fervor of affection with which Gen. Longstreet had been treated in the war, and the conduct of which he had been a leader, and who voted for the resolution.

Known to the Senate Committee.

Proposed articles of impeachment against Belknap. There are five articles.

The specifications are all unknown. They are confined exclusively to the South.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—The preliminary business was unimportant.

The second regular session was resumed, and Bayard spoke in opposition.

He urged that "we abstain from the policy of interference which has been so damaging, and let us peace in all the States."

During Bradley's speech, Mr. Bentall was heard to say that the Senator from Georgia had been a fool, and he also admitted to his defeatism.

Key asserted that the terminates by Gov. Holden, "for twenty odd years, the leading secessionist of North Carolina." To the speech of Mr. Yeates, we desire to call attention, as we did to the recent speech of Mr. Yeates of North Carolina, to the House, the other day, spike with some bitterness of the fervor of affection with which Gen. Longstreet had been treated in the war, and the conduct of which he had been a leader, and who voted for the resolution.

Known to the Senate Committee.

Proposed articles of impeachment against Belknap. There are five articles.

The specifications are all unknown. They are confined exclusively to the South.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—The second regular session was resumed, and Bayard spoke in opposition.

He urged that "we abstain from the policy of interference which has been so damaging, and let us peace in all the States."

During Bradley's speech, Mr. Bentall was heard to say that the Senator from Georgia had been a fool, and he also admitted to his defeatism.

Key asserted that the terminates by Gov. Holden, "for twenty odd years, the leading secessionist of North Carolina." To the speech of Mr. Yeates, we desire to call attention, as we did to the recent speech of Mr. Yeates of North Carolina, to the House, the other day, spike with some bitterness of the fervor of affection with which Gen. Longstreet had been treated in the war, and the conduct of which he had been a leader, and who voted for the resolution.

Known to the Senate Committee.

Proposed articles of impeachment against Belknap. There are five articles.

The specifications are all unknown. They are confined exclusively to the South.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—The second regular session was resumed, and Bayard spoke in opposition.

He urged that "we abstain from the policy of interference which has been so damaging, and let us peace in all the States."

During Bradley's speech, Mr. Bentall was heard to say that the Senator from Georgia had been a fool, and he also admitted to his defeatism.

Key asserted that the terminates by Gov. Holden, "for twenty odd years, the leading secessionist of North Carolina." To the speech of Mr. Yeates, we desire to call attention, as we did to the recent speech of Mr. Yeates of North Carolina, to the House, the other day, spike with some bitterness of the fervor of affection with which Gen. Longstreet had been treated in the war, and the conduct of which he had been a leader, and who voted for the resolution.

Known to the Senate Committee.

Proposed articles of impeachment against Belknap. There are five articles.

The specifications are all unknown. They are confined exclusively to the South.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—The second regular session was resumed, and Bayard spoke in opposition.

He urged that "we abstain from the policy of interference which has been so damaging, and let us peace in all the States."

During Bradley's speech, Mr. Bentall was heard to say that the Senator from Georgia had been a fool, and he also admitted to his defeatism.

Key asserted that the terminates by Gov. Holden, "for twenty odd years, the leading secessionist of North Carolina." To the speech of Mr. Yeates, we desire to call attention, as we did to the recent speech of Mr. Yeates of North Carolina, to the House, the other day, spike with some bitterness of the fervor of affection with which Gen. Longstreet had been treated in the war, and the conduct of which he had been a leader, and who voted for the resolution.

Known to the Senate Committee.

Proposed articles of impeachment against Belknap. There are five articles.

The specifications are all unknown. They are confined exclusively to the South.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—The second regular session was resumed, and Bayard spoke in opposition.

He urged that "we abstain from the policy of interference which has been so damaging, and let us peace in all the States."

During Bradley's speech, Mr. Bentall was heard to say that the Senator from Georgia had been a fool, and he also admitted to his defeatism.

Key asserted that the terminates by Gov. Holden, "for twenty odd years, the leading secessionist of North Carolina." To the speech of Mr. Yeates, we desire to call attention, as we did to the recent speech of Mr. Yeates of North Carolina, to the House, the other day, spike with some bitterness of the fervor of affection with which Gen. Longstreet had been treated in the war, and the conduct of which he had been a leader, and who voted for the resolution.

Known to the Senate Committee.

Proposed articles of impeachment against Belknap. There are five articles.

The specifications are all unknown. They are confined exclusively to the South.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—The second regular session was resumed, and Bayard spoke in opposition.

He urged that "we abstain from the policy of interference which has been so damaging, and let us peace in all the States."

During Bradley's speech, Mr. Bentall was heard to say that the Senator from Georgia had been a fool, and he also admitted to his defeatism.

Key asserted that the terminates by Gov. Holden, "for twenty odd years, the leading secessionist of North Carolina." To the speech of Mr. Yeates, we desire to call attention, as we did to the recent speech of Mr. Yeates of North Carolina, to the House, the other day, spike with some bitterness of the fervor of affection with which Gen. Longstreet had been treated in the war, and the conduct of which he had been a leader, and who voted for the resolution.

Known to the Senate Committee.

Proposed articles of impeachment against Belknap. There are five articles.

The specifications are all unknown. They are confined exclusively to the South.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—The second regular session was resumed, and Bayard spoke in opposition.

He urged that "we abstain from the policy of interference which has been so damaging, and let us peace in all the States."

During Bradley's speech, Mr. Bentall was heard to say that the Senator from Georgia had been a fool, and he also admitted to his defeatism.

Key asserted that the terminates by Gov. Holden, "for twenty odd years, the leading secessionist of North Carolina." To the speech of Mr. Yeates, we desire to call attention, as we did to the recent speech of Mr. Yeates of North Carolina, to the House, the other day, spike with some bitterness of the fervor of affection with which Gen. Longstreet had been treated in the war, and the conduct of which he had been a leader, and who voted for the resolution.

Known to the Senate Committee.

Proposed articles of impeachment against Belknap. There are five articles.

The specifications are all unknown. They are confined exclusively to the South.

The discussion on the proposition to substitute silver for fractional currency occupied the day without result.

Senate.—The second regular session was resumed, and Bayard spoke in opposition.

He urged that "we abstain from the policy of interference which has been so damaging, and let us peace in all the States."

During Bradley's speech, Mr. Bentall was heard to say that the Senator from Georgia had been a fool, and he also admitted to his defeatism.

Key asserted that the terminates by Gov. Holden, "for twenty odd years, the leading secessionist of North Carolina." To the speech of Mr. Yeates, we desire to call attention, as we did to the recent speech of Mr. Yeates of North Carolina, to the House, the other day, spike with

Wilmington Journal

WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY, APRIL 7, 1875.

THE LARGEST DISCLOSURE AT WASHINGTON.

The following are the returns from the Connecticut election as received at 1 o'clock yesterday:

FOR GOVERNOR.

Ingersoll (Dem.) 49,574

Robinson (Rep.) 42,264

Ingersoll's majority 7,310

Smith (Temperance) 1,545

Atwater (Greenback) 3,602

LEGISLATURE.

Senate — Democrats, 17; Republicans, 4.

House—Democratic majority 40.

This will secure a Democratic Senate, and was examined by Mr. Clymer's committee. Then "the ways that were shod" were evidently brought into the glistening light, and the tricks that had not been in vain for the temporary relief of Babcock had their little peculiarities explained. The New York Evening Post thinks this exposure of the conspiracy to acquit Babcock is the "most unkindest cut of all." The Post is Republican to the core, but its editor, the venerable William Cullen Bryant, is anxious to see this matter investigated. Here is what paper says:

"If General Babcock does not demand a court of inquiry into his conduct as private secretary of the President, honorable officers of the army owe it to themselves and to the service to insist upon a military investigation. The power of the civil courts has been exhausted in the case. Babcock was not legal y advised at St. Louis, but neither was he acquitted in the broader sense. Even those persons who acquiesced in the verdict of the jury believed that there were so many facts which needed explanation that Babcock ought not to delay to secure a hearing of the case, and if possible a vindication before a tribunal which would not be restricted by the rigid technicalities of a civil court. Since then further and injurious facts have been disclosed, the Attorney-General has accused Babcock in effect, of stealing a confidential official document, and publishing it with a view to influence the result of his own trial. The master certainly needs to be explained. Still more imperatively is an explanation demanded of the story told yesterday by C. S. Bell to Mr. Clymer's committee.

In substance this witness testified that he was employed by Babcock's friend and fellow secretary, by one Bradford, Babcock's agent and counsel and a brother-in-law of that rather notorious, though eminent citizen of Washington, "Boss" Shepherd. To "look into the hands of District Attorney Dyer at St. Louis." He was instructed to find out what evidence there was against Babcock, to get the telegraphic dispatches and other troublesome documents and either to destroy them or to deliver them to Babcock and his counsel. When he undertook the work he had no faith, believing Babcock to be innocent but that afterward, becoming convinced that Babcock was guilty, he resolved to go no further with it, revealed the plot to District Attorney Dyer and put that officer on his guard against the man Sherman, who is believed to have gone to St. Louis on a similar errand.

It is scarcely necessary now to inquire closely into the character or truthworthiness of this witness. His story is circumstantial and straightforward, and there is no apparent motive on his part to what was sure to be a dangerous fabrication if it was true. That, however, is not worth while to speculate about. If the story is wholly unfounded a very few words from Mr. Dyer will destroy it and the character of the witness together. If Mr. Dyer confirms the story, there is before Babcock only the alternative of confession or an explanation more satisfactory than he has yet offered for any of his suspicious proceedings.

The testimony touches President Grant. Bell says that the President sent him upon a mission to St. Louis to find out the facts in the whisky case, and to ascertain whether Babcock was really guilty as charged. Babcock was the President's chief in the present administration. Bell had been a scout or spy for General Grant during the war, and the President regarded him as a fit person to execute the delicate trust confided to him. This was an extraordinary proceeding, truly, but perhaps not more so than some other illustrations of the application of military methods to civil administration. Bell does not pretend that he was instructed by the President to help Babcock in the trial; he was to perform the purely judicial and impartial functions of a disinterested spectator after trial. Perhaps no other President would thus have set aside the ordinary machinery of justice and have conducted the case as if it were a flank movement in a military campaign; but there is nothing improbable in the assertion that President Grant did just such a thing. It furnishes another example of his singular insensibility to the proprieties of his position and his remarkable indifference to the obligations of a civil ruler."

This is just about as plain talk of President Grant and his acts as any Democratic journal can be guilty of. "If Mr. Dyer confirms the story (of Bell) then it is before Babcock only the alternative of confession or an explanation more satisfactory than he has yet offered for any of his suspicious proceedings."

The approaching visit to the United States of the present intelligent and energetic emperor of the immense territory of Brazil will perhaps be the greatest sensation of the centenary year, at least so far as these sensations have connection with the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of American independence. It is truly a large proportion of American politicians and statesmen who find themselves absorbed in the strategies and struggles of the political arena, during most of the period of the Philadelphia exhibition, to civil administration. Bell does not pretend that he was instructed by the President to help Babcock in the trial; he was to perform the purely judicial and impartial functions of a disinterested spectator after trial. Perhaps no other President would thus have set aside the ordinary machinery of justice and have conducted the case as if it were a flank movement in a military campaign; but there is nothing improbable in the assertion that President Grant did just such a thing. It furnishes another example of his singular insensibility to the proprieties of his position and his remarkable indifference to the obligations of a civil ruler."

The testimony touches President Grant. Bell says that the President sent him upon a mission to St. Louis to find out the facts in the whisky case, and to ascertain whether Babcock was really guilty as charged. Babcock was the President's chief in the present administration. Bell had been a scout or spy for General Grant during the war, and the President regarded him as a fit person to execute the delicate trust confided to him. This was an extraordinary proceeding, truly, but perhaps not more so than some other illustrations of the application of military methods to civil administration. Bell does not pretend that he was instructed by the President to help Babcock in the trial; he was to perform the purely judicial and impartial functions of a disinterested spectator after trial. Perhaps no other President would thus have set aside the ordinary machinery of justice and have conducted the case as if it were a flank movement in a military campaign; but there is nothing improbable in the assertion that President Grant did just such a thing. It furnishes another example of his singular insensibility to the proprieties of his position and his remarkable indifference to the obligations of a civil ruler."

The man Major Merrill, who pocketed $20,000 extra pay for housing the South Carolinians, is to be examined by the Military Committee of the House. He is, say the New York Sun, innocent that he asked the chairman why he had been summoned, "if it is to get my views on any intricate subject, I wish you would tell me now, so I can study and enlighten your committee." Gen. Banister, who is wholly unfamiliar with the intricacies of the law, was admitted to the bar by the Legislature of North Carolina to the United States Senate, to succeed Abbott, and on March 4, 1871, applied for admission, he had not been received of his political disqualification, he is equally certain to let no man escape who has been guilty of exposing their rascality. It seems from General Hazen's letter to Mr. Clymer that the General informed the President as early as 1872 of Blacknap's sale of post-tradeposts. Shortly afterward General Hazen was promoted to a remote post on the Mexican frontier, where he remained in obscurity ever since. Danford, who testified before the investigating committee to having been employed by the White House ring to act as a spy on District Attorney Dyer, and to steal from his office and destroy any testimony going to establish the guilt of Babcock, stated that having satisfied himself on the subject, and informed the President that Babcock was guilty, he was a few days afterwards dismissed from government employment. It is a humiliating fact that the President's reputation has been damaged by the recent developments of facts come out with the disclosure of American treason. Now, when he will be investigated, or what course the investigation may take. The man Jimmy Macleod, of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, has got a hint that the committee was investigating him, and when he was called before the old fox he layed the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comforted itself. Would the ex-Confederate brigadiers would be standing by his side, laying the Uzzi hands upon that is highest and holiest in the departments. He laid Kilburne, a contumacious witness, who refused to swear to their deposition, gave the name of an American soldier and has always—I burst to write it—been serviceable to the country. It is safe to say that hundreds of our purest and most prominent men are daily kept upon a mental rack to the secret of the plot. The old fox was comfort

Washington Journal.

BY TELEGRAPH
TO THE
DAILY JOURNAL
WASHINGTON.

COURT Commissioners.

The board met last evening in regular session. Present: J. G. Wagner, chairman, and commissioners Van Auweg and Nixon.

After the reading of the minutes, County Treasurer H. W. Witt made his report for the month of March. Received and ordered spread on the minutes.

The auditing committee reported its transactions for the past month, and the report was disposed of in like manner as above.

A report of committee on poor-horn e hospital and workhouse was presented and approved.

A petition received from Geo. H. Adams for license to retail liquor.

Report of Post Day's received and referred for information.

Charles King was granted permission to leave, after which the board adjourned sine die to meet on the 2d.

The Democracy of Brunswick.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Democratic Conservative party of Brunswick county was held at Suithville on Monday April 3d.

Delegates were appointed to the State Convention as follows: D. S. Cowan, B. Applewhite, John D. Taylor, A. V. Goodman, W. G. Curtis, Joseph Stanland, Franklin Galloway, T. H. Hickman, W. Scott Milliken.

Alternates: M. W. Hibour, C. B. Dick, John N. Bennett, Henry Duval, R. W. Woodsides, Almon Ward, R. W. McKey, B. F. Gore, Jesse Wilson.

In the Congressional District: George Samuel R. Chinnis, Samuel A. King, Rufus Galloway, Jacob Evans, C. G. Guthrie, Henry Addix, Wallace Strother, D. L. Gore, John H. Muntz, S. J. Stanland, Lewis Butler, Lorenzo Scott.

John J. Gay, R. S. Love, J. C. Grimes, William Watters, Dr. L. Fraz, H. T. Williams, E. A. Pigott, W. A. Lancaster, J. W. Thorp, G. F. Tracy, R. A. Edwards, Z. D. Whitlom.

The time for the County Convention was fixed for Saturday, July 15th, 1876.

W. G. Curris,
Chairman Ex. Com.

Jones H. Mintz,
Secretary.

Burned to Death.

Mrs. Esther A., wife of Daniel R. Bivenberk, living near South Washington, Pendleton County, was burned severely on Saturday, March 18th, that she died on the 22d. While passing the fireplace her dress caught fire, and in her flight she ran into the yard, where the high wind soon carried her into flames. Her sister, the Rev. Mrs. John S. Weston, who had been present, in her vain effort to extinguish the fire, had her hands burned. Her clothes brought other assistance, but too late. Mrs. Weston's clothes were entirely consumed, and her hands were severely injured.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for his services, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

Lynde offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to pay the amount of his expenses, acts or duties, and so what have been performed at a distance from the seat of government established by law. Adopted.

The impeachment articles were adopted and the managers appointed without opposition. The bill, so ordered by the Senate, was accepted and passed.

Several petitions were presented asking liberal appropriations for the signal service.

Thurmond's bill for a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed. Its features having already telegraphed.

In explaining it Thurmond said that the object of this law was to put an end to the discordant decisions which had made the bankrupt law一团 in Texas, in the course of time, and another thing in another direction.

House.—A number of bills were introduced for reference.

Blackburn offered a resolution requesting the Preident to inform the Senate of the action of the War Department in regard to the payment of special counsel, and the amount of fees to be paid to the several counsels.

He also introduced a resolution for the transfer and removal of the accounts of the navy from the Barrings to Clowes & Co.

Bayard and McDonald will represent the democrats on the committee to investigate Mississippi affairs.

Mr. Merritt, while serving in South Carolina, received $21,000 for

Wilmington Journal.

WILMINGTON, N.C.,
FRIDAY, APRIL 7, 1876.

LET US ORGANIZE.

The Moral Executive Committee for the county of Orange met in Hillsboro last Friday and fixed upon Saturday, the 13th of May, as the day for holding the convention to nominate candidates for the Legislature, county offices and delegates to the National and State Conventions. The Township Executive Committees were requested to cause meetings to be held in their several townships on Saturday, the 29th of April, to choose delegates to the County Convention. The County Convention is to be a convention of delegates and not a pre-convention meeting.

We had with pleasure this first step in the work of preparation for the great campaign before us. Nor is it inappropriate that the staunch old county of Orange should be the first to step to the front in answer to the call upon us all to do battle for law and order and peace and good government. We take it as a happy omen, an auspicious augury to find Orange pointing out to us the way we should go. And this she has plainly done!

What does she tell us? She tells us by her action that there is a great work before us; that we must be up and at it; that there is a long and arduous campaign before us; that we must give many and hard blows before victory will crown our efforts. She tells us that we must discipline our forces and perfect our organization. She points out to us the importance of township organization by showing that it is the basic and starting point of the party in the Congressional District, in the State and in the United States. She forcibly reminds us that our party is truly the party of the people, the creature and servant of their will, by appealing to them as the source and fountain of its organization; and not only that, but that honesty and fair dealing in the broad light of day, before the eyes of all men, constitutes its underlying principle.

But the most valuable and the most needed lesson taught us in the go to work at once. When the sun goes down on the 13th of May, Orange county will have its full county ticket in the field, so that by the 1st of July, the State and National Conventions having met and made the necessary nominations, the party in Orange will be ready to take advantage of the assembling of the people at the tax gathering in July to appeal to them to do their duty in the great crisis now upon them. If the month of July shall pass without our county candidates being in the field the prospect for victory in November will be a phantom, as far as the party is concerned.

Representative Yost, of North Carolina, made a regular old-fashioned, roaring, rippling speech in the House yesterday. He talked of an eruptive volcano which had long been pent up. It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

For courta, the Washington correspondent of the Springfield (Mass.) Advertiser thus writes:

"Yesterday, a correspondent of the Charleston News and Courier, writing from Washington, says:

Representative Yost, of North Carolina, made a regular old-fashioned, roaring, rippling speech in the House yesterday. He talked of an eruptive volcano which had long been pent up. It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

For courta, the Washington correspondent of the Springfield (Mass.) Advertiser thus writes:

"Yesterday, a correspondent of the Charleston News and Courier, writing from Washington, says:

Representative Yost, of North Carolina, made a regular old-fashioned, roaring, rippling speech in the House yesterday. He talked of an eruptive volcano which had long been pent up. It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war-ex-Confederate.

And he adds:

"The Head and the Foot."

"Cut off the head and put it in the hands of the Devil," said Mr. Yost, in his speech of yesterday. "It was good, fair, square, manly talk without, but full, of course, by subtle misrepresentation of the Republicans, who will make it the pretext for renewing their war